DISCLAIMER

1. The Conformity Assessment Body (CAB), CAB means medical laboratory, testing laboratory, calibration laboratory and biobanks, has voluntarily undertaken to have its conformity assessment processes and services assessed against ISO/IEC 17025 or ISO 15189 or ISO 20387 Standards, as applicable. QAI CIA assesses the CAB on the basis of a self-assessment cum management system documentation review tool-kit filled by the CAB itself, published applicable ISO standards, and on-site/hybrid/remote sample-based assessment by external peer reviewers.
2. The CAB shall ensure that all the systems and processes are in place as required by the applicable ISO standards. Further, the CAB shall be committed to maintain, continuously review and improve the performance of its services, against these standards.
3. Compliances to all applicable regulatory/ statutory/ legal requirements at all times is the sole responsibility of the CAB.
4. The CAB safeguards the QAI CIA from all agreements with third parties which stem from the participation of the CAB in the accreditation program and the decisions which the QAI CIA takes in this context.
5. The assessment and judgment of QAI CIA do not exclude incidents with regard to the quality of services. For any adverse events/ incidents occurring in CAB, QAI CIA shall not bear any responsibility in whatsoever manner.
6. QAI CIA is not liable for any damages in the CAB which might incur/ occur during the assessment process unless in the case of deliberate intent or gross negligence on the part of persons designated by QAI CIA.
7. QAI CIA is not liable for any damages the CAB might incur because of participating in the accreditation program, or by any decision of QAI CIA regarding the awarding or not awarding of accreditation or the temporary or indefinite suspension of accreditation status or the discontinuation in line with the Terms and Conditions for Maintaining QAI CIA Accreditation.
8. QAI CIA is not a licensing/ statutory/ regulatory body. QAI CIA work is mainly to operate accreditation and allied programs in collaboration with stakeholders merely focusing on patient safety and quality of healthcare services based upon accreditation standards, through process of self-assessment and external assessment.
9. QAI CIA documents and educational materials meant for CAB are readily accessible to all stakeholders and they may be used for any reasonable purpose. QAI CIA accepts no liability for the use of its materials.
